February American Magazine.

Harold Bell Wright, who has sold over seven million copies of his books, has written his first magazine article for the February American Magazine. It is called "The Sword of Jesus" and asks what Jesus would do in this great world war. Every man, woman and child in America should read it.

In addition there are fine articles about the Mayo Brothers, the great doctors of Rochester, Minn.; Thomas Edison and Abraham Lincoln. The Edison article presents a new view of the famous genius, discussing not his inventions but the personal wisdom of the man. "What I Learned from 'Abe' Lincoln" tells how pictures and the life of Lincoln has inspired one man, and Walter Prichard Eaton tells of the plays worth seeing this winter.

The fiction contains good stories by Holworthe Hall, William Dudley Pelley, Samuel Derieux and other wellknown writers. The Interesting People Department is fine this month. Bruce Barton continues his serial, "The Making of George Groton." Sid Says: "If you aren't fighting, are you worth fighting for?" and Family Money contains many helpful hints on how to save.

How Europe Was Made Safe for Royalty

By OSCAR COX

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

There was once a principality somethe principal points out of this storywhose territory consists of only a few side ... square miles. The prince being of the blood royal and an associate on equal terms with the other sovereigns of Europe, was required to keep up their style though he did it on an infinitely small scale. He had one general, one judge, one executioner. His army consisted of a hundred men divided into ten companies consisting of ten men to a company. Everything else was on a proportionate scale. But the general, except when on duty, was a butcher; the judge the only policeman in the principality, and the soldiers were laborers. The executioner was the • number. The Postal regulations parson officiating over the little church 20 by 30 feet in area, one-third of which is taken up by the royal pew. The parson was a meek little man incompetent to decapitate a chicken.

All worked well in the principality for many years. There were no criminals to try, or to punish, the prince spent his time visiting his royal relatives, so that his living was provided for, and the people, who were taxed are now doing service at the front only to provide for the royal pocket money, were happy.

Then suddenly came trouble. The general of the army was caught in the act of treason. A neighboring king, whose territory consisted of many mil and bribed the general of the prince paper. Address, for a consideration, to let down the bars of the fence inclosing the prince-An appeal has been sent out for the ly territory, and admit the king's army without resistance on the part of the prince's forces. The plot being discovered in time, the other European sovereigns frowned upon it and stopped it. Had it been carried through they would have held a conference and in order that the peace of Europe might not be disturbed would have winked at it. As it was, the only action required was to try the general

But the judge, who, it has been said, was only a policeman, knew nothing about law and was incapable of conducting a trial. The prince got over Gen. Gorgas says that 2 per cent of the difficulty by ordering a trial behind opened a warrant was produced by which the general was condemned to death. It was taken to the prince, who signed it, and the pen with which he the sovereign of the most powerful empire as a token that imperialism was absolute in the principality.

It remained new only to carry out A meeting of the privy council was held, at which it was unanimously agreed that the executioner could not what was to be done in the premises. One suggested that the general, being who was a parson. Whereupon another member suggested that the two be surreptitiously made to change places and The anarchistic character of the head of the parson. This would satthe butcher be made to cut off the

But the prince, who was a just sovereign would not hear of such a nefarious deed, and dismissed the councit, saying that he would lay a plan for carrying out the sentence himself. Until such time as he could find an executioner he would take the general's parole and release him from confinement. The general willingly gave his word not to leave the principality and the next morning was to be seen peacefully swinging his cleaver in his outcher shop.

Now the king of that country who desired the principality for his cow pasture—remember that this story has been censored and all names have been deleted-hearing that the general was engaged at his usual business, sent a deputation to the prince to protest against such a flagrant omission of a royal duty to punish treason, representing that if such leniency were practiced by the crowned heads of Europe the world would at last be cursed with all the horrors of democracy.

To this the prince replied that rather than see this he would consent to the massacre of every one of his subjects. The leader of the deputation replied royal master would send his own executioner to decapitate the general.

A few days later the king's executioner arrived. His guard of honor numbered five hundred men armed with the most deadly implements of modern warfare. They took the general from his shop and the king's executioner dispatched him. Then the prince was shot down, and when the executioners were finished there was not a human being left in the principality The executioner, attended by his guard, went back to the king, who asked him if he had acceded to the request of his royal cousin, and the executioner assured him that he had done his work so well that the principality was now ready for his majesty's cow pasture.

This is an instance of how the bless ings of royalty have been saved to the world by one royal cousin assisting another in repressing treason. The principality is now a cow pasture Who knows but that it might have been a vast plant for the manufacture comforts for the people?

GOOD WINTER HORSE FORAGE

Corn Stover Has Practically Same Feeding Value as Timothy Hay-Alfalfa Is Favored.

(By A. A. AGEE, New Jersey Experiment Station.)

With choice timothy hay quoted at the present price of $24 to $25 a ton, and with inferior grades at not less than $20 a ton, other roughages should be substituted for wintering horses. Good corn stover (corn fodder minus the ears) has practically the same feeding value as timothy hay and may be fed to horses with about the ame results during the winter months. Alfalfa and clover are legume hays having a still higher feeding value than timothy, particularly in their content of protein. The best grade of alfalfa usually sells at considerably less on the market than timothy hay, making it a more economical roughage on the farm. Alfalfa and clover when fed as the only roughage have been known to cause an overexertion of the kidneys because of the high nitrogen content. However, this objection is practically done away with by substituting corn stover, straw or timothy for a part of the roughage. Horses on heavy work need approximately a pound of grain daily for each hundred pounds of live weight.

MAKING SELECTION OF A RAM

Animal Should Be Vigorous, Active and Show Strong Masculine Character in Makeup.

SHEEP FLOCK DURING WINTER

Requisites Necessary to Bring Flock Through Cold Weather Are Feed and Proper Shelter.

Test of a Good Husband. Our position is simply this: That no man is a good husband who doesn't notice when he comes home that the sitting-room curtains have been moved to the dining-room .-- Dallas News.

When first introduced, chime bells were rung by a number of men, each grasping a rope from one particular bell and striking it at the precise moment the leader pointed a finger at him for a signal. The custom originated in Europe, and was imported into this country when the first chimes were brought over. This was shortly after the country's independence was declared, the new bells being placed in Trinity church, New York city. It required seven men to ring the seven bells, and it was not until 1800 that a plan was devised whereby one man alone was able to ring the bells.

The peach tree is a native of Persia and China. It was brought to Italy by the Romans in the time of the Emperor Claudius, was cultivated in Europe as early as 1550 and brought to America about 1680. Its name is derived from Persico, its native country. The ancients regarded it with distrust, as according to Pliny they supposed the king of Persia had sent it into Egypt to poison the inhabitants with whom he was at war. The Chinese have traditions of a peach tree of knowledge and another of immor-

COST OF MAINTAINING HERD

Serious Problem Confronting Cattle Producer, Says Doctor McCampbell of Kansas College.

A serious problem that confronts the cattle producer is the cost of main taining a breeding herd, according to Dr. C. W. McCampbell, associate professor of animal husbandry in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

With the judicious use of straw, silage and cottonseed meal the problem becomes less perplexing. periods of normal prices, cows at the Kansas Agricultural Experiment station that were receiving silage and cotton seed with other roughages such as straw, and kafir butts, were maintained during the winter months at a cost slightly less than four cents a day and were in thrifty condition when turned to pasture in the spring. Maintaining a cow herd when properly managed is profitable.

HOG IS GOOD CORN HUSKER

Animals Make More Gain From Corn When They Gather It The selves-Labor Is Saved.

The pigs are good corn huskers and they will pay for being so too. Experiments have shown that pigs make more pounds of gain from corn when they gather it themselves than when it is husked and fed to them. It takes at least one day for a man and team to husk an acre of corn, so that every acre that the pigs take care of saves that much labor. Squaw corn is very satisfactory for hogging down in North Dakota. It ripens early, so the pigs can start on it sooner than any other variety. An acre of corn that will yield 30 bushels will be sufficient for feeding six spring pigs two months.-Extension Department, North Dakota Agricultural College.

AMPLE EXERCISE FOR SWINE

Fattening Hog Should Be Limited to Run of Half an Acre to Keep Appetite Sharp.

Fattening hogs make the greatest gains when they have just enough exercise to keep their appetite sharp. A fattening hog should be limited to run of half an acre, and 25 fattening hogs kept on this area will do better than a great number. The pigs should and no matter how many are being fattened, not over 25 should be allowed to run together. Brood sows should not be kept with the fattening hogs. The feeding should be done at regular hours, two or three times a day-three times is the better-and give only just what they will eat up clean.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. There is an ancient saying that "One should never speak of a rope to a man whose father was hanged," and there is a great deal implied in those few words. In effect, is meant that subjects of conversation should be carefully introduced where persons present are not known to a certain extent; that is, that nothing untoward has happened, publicly, at least, that would make any unusual subject apply too openly to anyone especially.

GREAT DAMAGE FROM FLOODS

Most Disastrous Overflow in England Occurred in 1912; in France in 1916; U. S. in 1889 and 1913.

We in this country have experienced nothing like the floods which have taken place in other countries, says a London correspondent. Uncle Sam, too, has suffered very badly from floods, the most disastrous being the famous Johnstown floods of 1889. Heavy rains caused a sudden rise of the Susquehanna river and its tributaries, with the result that numerous prosperous towns and villages on the western slope of the Alleghenies for 40 miles around were completely devastated. Six thousand persons lost their lives, including 1,500 burned to death at Johnstown, where the iron furnaces set fire to the driftwood and build-

In March, 1913, an appalling disaster of flood, fire and storm overwhelmed Indiana and Ohio, resulting in the death of 7,000 people, while 250,000 were rendered homeless; $10,000,000 worth of damage was done in a few hours. Two years previously a dam burst over Austin, Pa., resulting in the destruction of the town and the death of 4,000 of the inhabitants.

VEVER allow, the mother hen to range with the young chicks until they are at least two weeks Enormous numbers of young chicks are lost each year by allowing them to run in the wet grass during their early life.

SHADE and range for chickens will give the best results. Hot sun retards growth. There should be trees, corn, sunflowers; etc., on the range to provide shade during the hot summer months. Chickens on range pick up much of their food.

ELIMINATE the male bird at end of hatching season. Fifteen million dollars is lost each year by allowing the rooster to run with hens during the summer months. Produce the infertile egg. Dispose of the male bird not later than June 1. Market a better quality of egg.

GREEN feed is excellent for poultry and can be substituted for a considerable amount of grain ration. Grow oats, vetch, and rape for summer use; cabbage and mangel beets for winter. Store cabbage and beets in a dry room or bury in a pit and cover with straw and earth.

GREATEST returns are procured by feeding sour milk or buttermilk fo both young and old birds. Results in greater gains. Will require less grain. Produces more egg. Increases the profits.

SAVE eggs during April and May for winter use by preserving in waterglass. Mix 9 quarts of water, boiled and cooled, with 1 quart of waterglass. Will preserve 15 dozen eggs.

Place the solution in a 5-gallon jar. Store in cool place for winter use.

This will cause the earth to move oothly along the face of the drag and will make the draft light on the m, provided the driver rides in the ne of draft. If small weeds are to cut, or if the furrow of earth in the ch is to be moved, the hitch should attached rather close on the chain the ditch end of the drag. This will e the drag to move nearly ditchd foremost. The driver should put weight on the extreme forward end and make the blade plow. For such work the team should be driven slowly and carefully to keep the rag from dipping forward. If a wet pot is met, the driver should shift his ight backward so as not to dig too eply. If the blade becomes clogged Ith straw or weeds it can be made to ean itself usually if the driver shifts weight as far as possible from the litch end of the blade. If there is a w place or a mudhole to be filled the drag can be made to drop its load of earth if the driver shifts his weight quickly from the ditch end.

The distance from the drag at which the team is hitched affects the depth of cutting. A long hitch causes the blade to cut deeper and is used often when a rough road is to be smoothed up. Shortening the chain seems to lift the furnew blade from the ground and makes lighter cutting when doing light othing work.

The best work can be done by the drag when the soil is moist, but not sticky, so the earth will move freely along the face of the blades. If the roadway is very badly rutted it may be well to drag it when the earth s wet. This is particularly true just before a spell of cold weather in winn it is possible to have a road-

The road drag is only good in clay or simflar soils, as its effectiveness depends on the smearing action which it has and by means of which it can make a water-tight coat. The sand road will be injured by crowning it toward the center and dragging because the sand ond needs all the moisture it can hold, and a crown will drain this moisture

Save The Hens.

Every pullet and young hen sold for food this winter means a reduction of from five to twelve dozen eggs in the potential egg supply of next spring and snmmer. Hundreds of thousands of farmers who have not raised poultry will do so next spring and summer-responding to the demand for more chickens and eggs so that beef and pork will be released to help Win the War. They will need young hens.

The United States Department of Agriculture urges the saving of fowls of producing qualities, so that they may be used for stock in the early spring.

More chickens and more eggs will release more meat for our armies and the allies. They can not get our chickens and our eggs-we can, and like to eat them, Poultry can be increased more rapidly and more economically than any of the meat animals.

Chickens will live largely, grow and prosper, on waste that never otherwise would be of use, and will eat the bugs, paricularly orchard pests, before they have had opportunity to do great harm,

Chickens require a minimum of attention. Most of it can be given by women and children. No heavy labor is required.

Chickens will help Win the War.

DICKENS FAMILY PROVISION.

Election of Henry Fielding Dickens, son of Charles Dickens, the novelist, by the aldermen of the city of London to the office of common sergeant, which carries with it a salary of $15,000 a year, will cause gratification to many admirers of his father in America, says the Richmond Times-Dispatch. It is true that the versatile caricaturist made a lot of fun of our institutions when they were in a crude state, and there was a time when his burlesques of our boasted business progressiveness were not well relished, but he was master of a form of humor which appealed irresistibly to the American sense of the ludicrous, and so he was forgiven. Of late years, stories of the poverty of his descendants caused grief in this country, which will be relieved at the news of his son's good
